

Sensory Scientist
High Wycombe
£Negotiable + package

Great place to develop your career with a leading manufacturer in their field. The business supplies innovative, practical and commercial food products to a broad range of industry customers. They believe in developing quality in people for mutual benefit. This is a business investing in people, innovation and processes.

This is a great opportunity for someone with sensory analysis knowledge. You will develop and manage innovation projects and work closely with other departments. Apply data and collaborate with product development, sales and marketing.

Working within an established organisation, you will be part of a continuous development and improvement ethos. Able to contribute to an inclusive culture on site.

Duties will include:

- Development of sensory methodologies. Utilise sensory and flavour analysis to better understand the flavour characteristics of food and beverages.
- Apply sensory science to support business development plans and support customers in their understanding of consumer preferences.
- Develop and manage innovation projects as the sensory lead.
- Set up sensory protocols.
- Provide sensory insights into flavour food matrix interactions.
- Screening, selection, maintenance and establishment of panels.
- Review current practices, policies and methods.
- To ensure an integrated approach for sharing sensory information across the teams in Europe and Asia.
- Develop and manage R&D projects which interface with all business functions.
- Form a strong R&D network with other innovation centres, including sensory science and specific applications.
- Interpret and correlate data through collaboration with product development, analysis and sensory science

Skills and experience required:

- Sensory science experience.
- Sensory analysis knowledge.
- Degree with food industry experience.
- Excellent interpersonal skills.
- Strong IT skills across MS Office, statistics and sensory packages.
- Organised and positive.
- Keen to keep learning.

To be considered for the role please contact David at i2i Recruitment for immediate consideration!

We like to speak to every application, but due to the current climate this is not always possible. To ensure your application is not overlooked it is important that you emphasise any skills or work experience relevant to this position. If you have not heard from us within 5 working days please assume that you have been unsuccessful in this instance.

i2i Recruitment Ltd is a leading independent employment agency providing staffing solutions across specialist areas. We are a corporate member of the REC and are dedicated to provide a professional quality of service to clients and candidates alike.

Apply Online