

Associate Director – Sensory and Consumer Research
To £55k
East Midlands
HP 12863

We are recruiting a new position for our client, a sensory and consumer research consultancy, who supports the FMCG sector across Food, Beverage, Household and Personal Care products, with product and process optimisation. Due to continued growth they now need to recruit an individual as an Associate Director with great business and people management skills to ensure the continued success of their business.

The role:

- Manage financial targets and ensure work is carried out to company quality standards
- Ensure the operational and support teams have the right training, development and resources to meet demands from clients
- Support the directors in development of growth strategies and their implementation
- Be a point of contact for clients

The person:

- An expert in Sensory and / or Consumer Evaluations
- Has operational management experience in a Food/FMCG or related technical services company
- Previous responsibility for P&L and ability to develop and review quality systems and documents
- Has experience of line management with expertise in coaching and mentoring team members to reach their full potential
- Qualified to BSc or similar in Food Science or related technical discipline

Interested parties should apply with a full CV in Word format direct to Hannah.parish@sssltd.com or call +44 1869 341203 for a confidential discussion.